

BIG DATA AND THE POWER OF NARRATIVE

IT University of Copenhagen, Rued Langgaards Vej 7, 2300 Copenhagen S , March 21–22, 2019

Sponsored by ERC, Velux Foundation and The Danish Research Councils

Organizers: Brit Ross Winthereik, IT University of Copenhagen, Klaus Hoeyer, University of Copenhagen, and Maja Hojer Bruun, Aalborg University

PROGRAM

Thursday, 21st March

10:30–11:15 Registration and breakfast (Atrium)
11:15–11:30 Welcome by Brit Winthereik and Klaus Hoeyer (Auditorium 2)
11:30–12:30 Keynote: Evelyn Ruppert, Goldsmiths, University of London (Auditorium 2)
12:30–13:30 Lunch (Atrium)
13:30–15:00: PARALLEL SESSIONS:
TRACK 1 (Auditorium 4),
TRACK 2 (Scroll Bar) and
TRACK 3 (DesignLab)
15:00–15:30: Break
15:30–17:00: PARALLEL SESSIONS:
TRACK 4 (Auditorium 4),
TRACK 5 (Scroll Bar) and
TRACK 6 (DesignLab)
17:00–17:30: Break
17:30–18:30: Keynote: Minna Ruckenstein, University of Helsinki (Auditorium 2) 18.30–19.30: Reception (Atrium) and screening of *"Common Sensing: Who Measures and Why?" by Rosten Woo (Auditorium 2)

Friday, 22nd March

8:30–9:00: Breakfast (Atrium)
9:00–10:00: Keynote: Joe Dumit, University of California, Davis (Auditorium 2)
10–10:30: Break
10:30–12:00: PARALLEL SESSIONS:
TRACK 7 (Auditorium 4),
TRACK 8 (Scroll Bar) and
TRACK 9 (DesignLab)
12:00–13:00: Lunch (Atrium)
13:00–14:00: Roundtable:
Data immersions – on resonance and friction between ethnography and Big Data with Joe Dumit, Minna Ruckenstein, Evelyn Ruppert and Morten Axel Pedersen (Auditorium 2) 14:00– Farewell, coffee and departure
by Maja Hojer Bruun (Auditorium 2)

European Research Council
Established by the European Commission

VELUX FONDEN

DANMARKS FRIE FORSKNINGSFOND
INDEPENDENT RESEARCH FUND DENMARK

AnTech
projects.au.dk/antech/

PARALLEL SESSIONS

Thursday, 21st March, 13.30 – 15.00

TRACK 1:
NARRATIVES OF DATAFICATION
AND DATAFICATION OF NARRATIVES
Chair: Anders Kristian Munk
Location: Auditorium 4

Tech Vanguard and the Symbolic Dimension of Big Data
Jûratė Kavaliauskaitė, Vilnius University

Towards an ideographic data practice
Anders Kristian Munk, Aalborg University

Crunching Data Like an Anthropologist: Rethinking the Divide Between Data Science and Interpretive Social Science
David Moats, Linköping University

Entwined
Anne Beaulieu, University of Groningen
Judit Varga, University of Nottingham

Blaming data – Narrating exemption into the promise of data-mining in health care and social services
Ilpo Helén, University of Eastern Finland

TRACK 2:
POLITICS, ETHICS AND VALUES IN (CLINICAL) PRACTICE
Chair: John Mark Burnett
Location: DesignLab

Playing with (non)qualculability of healthcare. Practitioners' and regulators' strategies of doing quality of care
Roland Bal & Iris Wallenburg, Erasmus University Rotterdam

Emergent Infrastructure and Narratives of Empowerment
John Mark Burnett, IT University of Copenhagen

An Anthropology of Data work: Medical Scribes and CDISs
Claus Bossen, Aarhus University
Yunan Chen, University of California, Irvine
Kathleen H. Pine, Arizona State University

Algorithmic assemblages of care: Imaginaries, epistemologies and repair work
Nete Schwennesen, Copenhagen University

Opaque scripting in machine learning algorithms and the narrative power of synthetic data
Claudia Bagge-Petersen, University of Copenhagen

TRACK 3:
DATA: GOVERNANCE AND POLICY MAKING
Chair: Kristoffer Albris
Location: Scroll Bar

Datafication and Uncertainty in Contemporary China
Samuel Lengen, University of Virginia

Datafying Fear of Crime
Hanna Sahlin Lilja, Lund University

Normative paradoxes of privacy in times of big data
Paula Helm & Sandra Seubert, Goethe University Frankfurt

Ambivalent Intermediaries – The Role of Data Protection Officers in Denmark
Kristoffer Albris, University of Copenhagen

Translating Future Digital Imaginaries into the Danish Welfare State: Hot Air as Productive Analytic
Michael Hockenhull, IT University of Copenhagen

PARALLEL SESSIONS

Thursday, 21st March, 15.30 – 17.00

TRACK 4:
NARRATIVES, PHOTOS AND OTHER DATA:
METHODS RECONSIDERED
Chair: Nanna Gorm
Location: Auditorium 4

Investigating data narratives: the power of photo material
Nanna Gorm, IT University of Copenhagen

On 'big data' as 'Thick data' – Methodological considerations in research on self-enhancement
Margit Anne Petersen, University of Southern Denmark
Oskar Enghoff, Manchester University
Jakob Demant, University of Copenhagen

Mundane digitality: Experiencing datafication and datafiying experience in everyday life
Tanja Schneider, University of St. Gallen
Karin Eli, University of Warwick

Data Moment, Enacted
Mace Ojala, IT University of Copenhagen

Rediscovering the Comparative Power of Ethnography
Stefanie Büchner, Leibniz Universität Hannover

Participant observation as a traditional research tool
Kenneth Fobizi, University of Yaoundé I

TRACK 5:
PROFESSIONS AND PRACTICES RECONFIGURED
Chair: Lise Røjskjær Pedersen
Location: DesignLab

The Elusive Dolorimeter: Trials and Tribulations in Measuring Phantom Limb Pain
Alexandra Middleton, Princeton University, Visiting Researcher at Chalmers University of Technology, Gothenburg

Making sense of the data provided – or providing data that make sense? Design anthropological engagements with big data on human behaviour in libraries
Mette Gislev Kjærsgaard, Mikkel Ask Rasmussen & Jacob Buur, University of Southern Denmark

The practices of Big Data in healthcare
Marthe Stevens, Rik Wehrens & Antoinette de Bont, Erasmus School of Health Policy & Management

The Datafication of the Dead: Numbers and Narratives in Danish Organ Transplantation
Anja Marie Bornø Jensen, University of Copenhagen

Data experiments in public sector management
Lise Røjskjær Pedersen, IT University of Copenhagen

>>>

PARALLEL SESSIONS

Thursday, 21st March, 15.30 – 17.00

TRACK 6:
TRACKING, PRIVACY AND SURVEILLANCE?
Chair: Dorthe Brogård Kristensen
Location: Scroll Bar

Relating with data: stories of self-monitoring with care
Catherine Will, University of Sussex
Kate Weiner, University of Sheffield
Flis Henwood, University of Brighton
Ros Williams, University of Sheffield
Jacob Andrews, University of Sheffield

The datafication of the self, optimization and the imaginary of metrics
Dorthe Brogård Kristensen & Signe Banke,
University of Southern Denmark

De-scripting datafication practices
Laetitia Della Bianca & Bastien Presset, University of Lausanne

Advertising entanglements in research
Josie Hamper, Queen Mary University of London

Big Data: Challenges and Opportunities for Sociology
Maryna Shabeliuk,
Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv & Lund University

Living big data: datafication in everyday practices of participatory surveillance Clare Southerton, Maja Sonne Damkjær & Anders Albrechtslund, Aarhus University

PARALLEL SESSIONS

Friday, 22nd March, 10.30 – 12.00

TRACK 7:
MATTERS OF ARTICULATION:
DATA, CITIZENS AND SOCIETIES
Chair: Christopher Gad
Location: Auditorium 4

Negotiating the narrative power of patient reported data
Henriette Langstrup, University of Copenhagen

Conceptions of data in the design of computing systems
Irina Shklovski, IT University of Copenhagen

Digitalization and the technological sublime:
Narrations of digital technology as relations
Christopher Gad, Brit Winthereik, Jannick Schou,
IT University of Copenhagen

When vaccines go viral:
Archives and frameworks for understanding the Danish HPV case
Marie Louise Tørring, Aarhus University
Anders Kristian Munk, Aalborg University
Stine Hauberg Nielsen, Aarhus University
Ane Kathrine Lolholm Gammelby, Aarhus University

The pedagogy of data visualization:
Cultivating qualitative approaches to digital data
Simy Kaur Gahoonia & Bertil Johannes Ipsen,
IT-University of Copenhagen

PARALLEL SESSIONS

Friday, 22nd March, 10.30 – 12.00

TRACK 8:
COMPUTATIONAL THINKING, DECISION SUPPORT
AND MACHINE LEARNING
Chair: Maja Hojer Bruun
Location: DesignLab

Evidence in AI: Working on the basis of thresholds in predictive algorithms
Anne Henriksen, Aarhus University

Trust-Building Technologies?
Anne Bøgh Fangel & Laura Lynggaard Nielsen, Alexandra Instituttet

Multi-Party Computation and the power (and ethics) of visualization Astrid O. Andersen, Maja Hojer Bruun & Adrienne Mannov, Aalborg University

The Politics of Machine Learning
Aaro Tupasela, University of Helsinki
& Ezio di Nucci, University of Copenhagen

Digital Story Grammar: A new approach to link stories to actions
Stefan B Andrade & Ditte Andersen,
VIVE – The Danish Center for Social Science Research

TRACK 9:
ENERGY AND SUSTAINABILITY
Chair: James Maguire
Location: Scroll Bar

Datafication as standardisation and district heating at the edge
Caroline Anna Salling, University of Edinburgh

Amager Bakke:
A Discursive Assessment of the Decisions Making Process
S. Sahar Sattari, Aalborg University
& Eike Schneiders, Aalborg University

Digitalizing the State
– Data Centers and the Power of Exchange
James Maguire, IT University of Copenhagen

Combining data mining and ethnography in circular mixed methods
Ajda Pretnar, University of Ljubljana

Datafication of carbon in everyday life
Steffen Dalsgaard, IT University of Copenhagen

Working Across Different Types of Data to Understand Indoor Climate Mia Kruse Rasmussen, Alexandra Instituttet

