

I've been thinking a lot about adornment and appearance and the expectations of spectacle placed on certain kinds of bodies to perform and the desire to sometimes just be left alone to live and love as we want looking the way we want. Looking the way we want for self-love and pleasure and not to just put on a show. I have so much more to say around this work but for now I'm just going to dance under it.

Just Wanna Dance With Somebody
Dead as Disco

Materials Everything CoCo said to take off, Gifts of a drag queen, bobbles and bits, the military belt used to...

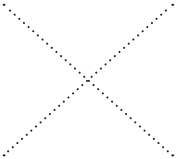

Dimensions 21×19×10 cm

2023

Cruising with Craft to the Ends of the Worlds: Practices of shattering, becoming scyborg and dancing with dragons as possible cartographies
lambert, matthew (The Postcards) ISBN 978-91-85549-73-3 Series: Konstfack Dissertation Collection 11

It is the repetition of thousands of stabs to create this something, the process which allows the time to meditate, cry and laugh. Holding and reflecting on life, desire, kin and the constant beat of the news that often feels like death by a thousand stabs/jabs/pricks/stings and still somehow, we manage to keep dancing. Hold on dear ones.

"Dance, when you're broken open.
Dance, if you've torn the bandage off.
Dance in the middle of the fighting.
Dance in your blood.
Dance when you're perfectly free."
— Rumi

Hold on Dear One
Dead as Disco

Material memories from a Texas truck stop,
the Versace shirt that would of made me look gay,
envy from a trinket machine, bits & bobs, gifts
from a drag queen

Dimensions 46×22×15 cm

2024

Cruising with Craft to the Ends of the Worlds: Practices of shattering, becoming scyborg and dancing with dragons as possible cartographies
lambert, matthew (The Postcards) ISBN 978-91-85549-73-3 Series: Konstfack Dissertation Collection 11

The Hero's Journey to take for power, to "save" and to conquer. To harm all that stands in the way of a narrow-minded fixation of singular glory. Killing in the name of sacrifice to catch gold with our bodies. They still fear and fortify against James Baldwin's dragons while others try to dance with them towards the horizon into the unknown…

Or as Tina sings…

'"Looking for something, we can rely on There's gotta be something better out

their love and compassion
Their day is coming
All else are castles built in the air

And, I wonder when we are ever gonna change,
Living under the fear, 'til nothing else remains

All the children say
We don't need another hero".

We Don't Need Another Hero
Dead as Disco

Material (non/semi/super)-precious metals, stones, beads, the pins and needles from wanting to…, bits & bobs, tears of a god/Alanis, flameworked glass, leather from daddy, gifts from a drag queen, epoxy

Dimensions 15×8×7 cm

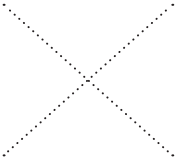

2024

Cruising with Craft to the Ends of the Worlds: Practices of shattering, becoming scyborg and dancing with dragons as possible cartographies
lambert, matthew (The Postcards) ISBN 978-91-85549-73-3 Series: Konstfack Dissertation Collection 11

Will you dance with me when we are breaking?
Will you dance with me when the bandages tear?
Will you dance with me in the middle of this fighting?
Will you dance with me while we bleed?
Will you dance with me when we are perfectly free?

... Will you still hold me when the party is over?

Will You Dance With Me When We Are Breaking
Dead as Disco

Material (non/semi/super)-precious metals, stones, beads, clove cigarettes, that emo song that was on repeat parked outside the mall at 2am, bits & bobs, flame worked glass, gifts from a drag queen, epoxy

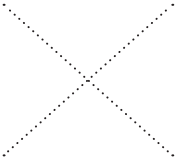

Dimensions 25×13×11 cm

2024

Cruising with Craft to the Ends of the Worlds: Practices of shattering, becoming scyborg and dancing with dragons as possible cartographies
lambert, matthew (The Postcards) ISBN 978-91-85549-73-3 Series: Konstfack Dissertation Collection 11

Complexity on complexity, spending so much time that the seeds I hide under my skin now grow. Your view makes me blurry. The details need you close, the pieces that make the gathering of a whole ask for your attention and tending or will you just be dazzled by glittering reflections? Always trying to see yourself in me, when all I want is for you to find yourself in you. Go looking, it's resting on the horizon and I will finally rest in my solitude, the weighted blanket of my kin is enough.

Dear Death Drive:
I Went Big But I Still Want To Go Home
Dead as Disco

Material The wound that lets the light in, envy from the trinket machines, stones, beads, flowers from a swinging chandelier, cobweb houses, bits & bobs, leather from daddy, gifts from a drag queen, epoxy

Dimensions 103×27×12 cm

2025

Cruising with Craft to the Ends of the Worlds: Practices of shattering, becoming scyborg and dancing with dragons as possible cartographies
lambert, matthew (The Postcards) ISBN 978-91-85549-73-3 Series: Konstfack Dissertation Collection 11

Butterfly kisses after bedtime prayer
Sticking little white flowers all up in each other's hair

The butterflies come to kiss the old wounds that weep. Licking freshly scraped knees, bloody and torn from running away, and the marks made when trying to stay.

Coming for borrowed time they claim was a generous gift, kissing the salty tears wept in exhausted hopes of another tomorrow.

The butterflies come for the tender blue bruises on flesh and heart, the ones getting ever harder to hide.

Coming to consume the salt, the blood and rotting flesh. There for the old, the new, the borrowed and the blue. Vows spoken by both but only one in the name of love.

Consecrated bodies, their twisted false eucharist, consumed for libido and manhood. A receipt in faith for virility and an ignorant lust for alpha. They will try and return it with performed regrets, but the purchased lie is final sale.

So the butterflies will come as we say our prayers. As we stick little white flowers all up in each other's hair. Soon to be walked down the aisle, coming from alley and house. Holding hands and tears so not to be marked next, watching our kin being carried down the aisle headed for home.

For when butterflies come, they will kiss us goodnight.

When The Butterflies Come
Dead as Disco

Material hopes and wishes, the dress that was never worn, grandmothers earring worn in secret, a brooch left in the street that followed me home out of the ~~rain, something old, new, borrowed, and blue, broken~~ vows, kin.

Dimensions 25×7×7 cm

2025

Cruising with Craft to the Ends of the Worlds: Practices of shattering, becoming scyborg and dancing with dragons as possible cartographies
lambert, matthew (The Postcards) ISBN 978-91-85549-73-3 Series: Konstfack Dissertation Collection 11